To Whom it May Concern

Re: Avantec

To whom it may concern

When we first came to Avantec we had a very poorly designed and badly operating website with no traffic. Paul and the team got a quick brief on what we wanted and immediately set about creating a modern and user friendly website which customers have since complemented us on. The professionalism of the Avantec team and immediate understanding of our needs as a business is the main reason why we have remained with the company and will continue to do so into the future. Paul or a member of the team is always just a phone call away and Avantec now handle all of our IT issues as well as the website. I would have absolutely no hesitation in recommending Avantec to any company, business or individual and have no doubt that once you make the move to Avantec you will not regret it - we certainly don't!

Kind Regards
